Subject: Hold polluters responsible and give Portland a healthy river

Dear Administrator Gina McCarthy,

The EPA needs to significantly revise its plan to clean up the Willamette Superfund site. The plan as it is written does not do enough to repair the damage done over many decades. It leaves too many problems in place which will have a negative impact on the health and of our community and our environment, and it does not require those industries who contributed to the problem to take responsibility for the damage which they have done.

I strongly urge the EPA to take more comprehensive action and to hold industrial and other polluters accountable for the costs of the cleanup. Please revise the plan.

Sincerely,
